NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

Each "Pape's Diapepsin" digests 3000 grains food, ending all stomach misery in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, no nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach was not there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store. These large 50-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home—advertisement.

GERMANS RESENT CHURCH PAPER'S ARTICLE ON WAR

Take Vigorous Exception to What Hawaiian Church Chronicle Says of Them

German and German-American residents of Honolulu take vigorous exception to the leading article appearing in the Hawaiian Church Chronicle for August. The publication of this article in the Chronicle, of which Bishop H. B. Restarick of the Episcopal church is editor-in-chief and Rev. W. E. Potwine is managing editor, is held to be a reflection upon the Germans and the situation arising out of the outbreak of war in Europe.

Particular exception is taken to the following paragraphs:

"It is a known fact that for years the chief toast on German ships has been 'To the Day,' that is to the day when the German navy was to try its strength with England. An officer of the United States navy said to the writer recently as others have done before, 'To the Day' means first England and then the United States."

"No doubt Germany felt that England and the United States by their policy have hemmed in Germany and prevented it from that expansion which Germans believed that they should have and must have."

The Star-Bulletin was informed by a German-American resident of Honolulu yesterday that the statement that the chief toast on German ships is "To the Day" is "absolutely false."

"The chief toast, as everyone should know, is to the emperor," said this man. "Furthermore, no such toast as 'To the Day'—meaning to the day when England and Germany shall meet, is never drunk on a German warship."

"We are deeply grieved that this article should appear in the Hawaiian Church Chronicle because we feel that it misrepresents us. We should like to ask Bishop Restarick what officer of the United States navy made the statement he mentions. We feel that no American officer would make that statement."

These excerpts also have aroused criticism:

"While we have the mingled feeling of anxiety and sorrow yet, we should all try to be fair. As students of history we know that at times nations have swarmed like bees. Germany with a restricted area, has 64,000,000 people. It is natural that this great people should desire room for expansion. Its restlessness under the restrictions of a cramped area are natural. It is natural that Germany should feel that England has so much, and holds on to it so tightly that there is no outlet for Germans to found colonies which shall be German. Germans who come to the United States have children who care nothing for the language, and very little for the traditions of their fathers. The English language is the solvent which brings them to be Americans and in a degree in sympathy with Anglo-Saxon ideas."

"Looking out over the world, we may ask ourselves what in our judgment would be for the best interest, not for a nation, but for mankind? What would be the best for advancement of democratic ideas of freedom and true liberty? Would it be a German world or an English-speaking world? Would Germany be likely to grant that freedom for trade and commerce and opportunities for all men of European stock which English-speaking civilization has given to men in every quarter of the world? Of one thing we may be sure, what is best will ultimately prevail. But what seems to be best for the liberty, progress and democratic advancement of mankind?"

M. H. DRUMMOND MAKES VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN FOR COUNTY TREASURER

M. H. Drummond, Democratic candidate for the nomination for city and county treasurer, is making a vigorous campaign and his platform of efficiency is relied upon to win him the nomination in the primary election.

Mr. Drummond announced himself as a candidate, his friends say, in answer to the public clamor for men to fill public offices who are businessmen and know their duties thoroughly. This demand Drummond is satisfied he can fulfill both on account of his lifelong training and his experience in the treasurer's office as chief assistant to Col. McCarthy.

He is making his campaign on the ground that he will allow no politics to interfere with the discharge of his duties, that rigid economy will be practiced, that he has been tried and found not wanting in the office in question. He has had a residence of 20 years in Honolulu and has discharged his private business duties with care and responsibility.

Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, yesterday caused to be reopened the old passageway through the basement of the capitol building, which was closed some months ago by his predecessor, J. W. Caldwell. The closing of the hallway proved somewhat inconvenient to the other departments in the basement, compelling the employees to use the Waikiki exit entirely.

CHAMBER WILL WORK FOR 'CITS' FOR SOLDIERS

Uncle Sam's wearers of the khaki on Oahu today are rejoicing over the fact that they have enlisted another friend in behalf of the campaign for citizen clothing for the soldiers stationed on Oahu when the Chamber of Commerce took up the question.

To wear "cits" togs when on leave is the end toward which the soldiers are working, and in which endeavor they are being aided by several local commercial organizations, "but," said L. Tenney Peck, "it seems that the citizens and soldiers are working toward the same end along parallel lines, and parallel lines do not meet." The right to wear civilian clothes when not on duty is the soldiers' desire; to provide club houses, better bathing facilities and other forms of amusement for the soldiers—attractions which will make them better satisfied with Hawaii—is the desire of the citizens.

"The soldiers ask the privilege of choosing their own associates and their own amusements," explained Mr. Peck. "They want to be allowed to enjoy the equality accorded other American citizens. While the uniform is the proper thing for them to wear while on duty, while off duty it makes them feel self-conscious and conspicuous."

It was brought out that requests from Honolulu to Washington that the soldiers on Oahu be allowed to wear civilian clothing while on leave, which requests were engineered through the proper channels, had been flatly refused and also that Hawaii and the Philippines are the only stations where the regulation regarding the wearing of the uniform at all times is in force. The secretary of the chamber said that if clubs were organized for soldiers, these should be placed entirely under the management of the soldiers. Speaking on the question of cheaper transportation from Schofield Barracks to Honolulu, James D. Dougherty said that this matter might be settled by the establishment of automobile bus lines. The Oahu Railway and Land Company, it was said, has offered to reduce fares 25 per cent providing it can be shown that there will be proportionate increase in travel between the barracks and Honolulu and vice versa. On the matter of civilian clothes, L. Tenney Peck was appointed to confer with the commander of the Hawaiian Department in the matter and report his findings to the committee.

Regarding the proposed change in clock time for Honolulu, as suggested in a resolution presented by C. G. Bockus at a meeting of the chamber Wednesday, the members of the committee on territorial affairs adopted a resolution that "it is the sense of this body that standard time, based on the time at the 150th meridian, be adopted for Hawaii." The resolution was offered by James D. Dougherty. Honolulu time is now based on 157 deg. 30 min. and if, instead of this, Hawaii was to adopt standard time, the business day would be commenced half an hour earlier.

THE SEASIDE INVITES YOU TO ITS DANCE

No written invitations are sent out for the Saturday evening dances at the Seaside Hotel. The management simply throw open the hospitable doors and expect all the nice folks of the city to come and enjoy themselves. Tomorrow evening, as usual, Kaala's boys will play. Come. Your friends expect you.
